To say this has been a tumultuous year would be an understatement, but the challenging nature of existence on our world is the primary reason that World Accord exists. It is not that we as an organization thrive on the challenges presented but that our concern for the well-being of our fellow humans drives us to abolish poverty and alleviate suffering. This year just seemed to demand that we rise to the occasion in a way we haven’t faced since Hurricane Mitch hit Honduras in 1998.

First came the devastating earthquakes that hit Nepal in April and May. Our donors as always came forward with support that was quickly transferred to Women for Peace and Democracy Nepal (WPD). In addition to our own supporters helping here, Hope International another Canadian NGO and long time collaborator with World Accord came forward with support for WPD. Later still Human Concern International, another friend of World Accord and Hope collaborated with us to support a three year program to rebuild lives and livelihoods in Nepal. In a show of global unity this program represents two Christian-based organizations and one Muslim-based organization supporting the relief and development efforts of WPD a primarily Hindu and Buddhist organization. What awesome things we can achieve when we as humans recognize the unity in our diversity.

Next we learned of financial challenges with our largest single supporter the World Hunger Fund of the Community of Christ. Their difficulties would be shared with us and we came to learn that this year we would face a 33% cut in the size of the grant they usually made to World Accord for our projects. This would increase the following year to a 50% decrease. World Accord was blessed later in the year by several Canadian congregations which came together in collaboration with the Canada East Mission to help fund the programming shortfall and thankfully, no cuts were passed on to our partners.

In the fall a photograph of the body of a small boy washed up on the shore touched the hearts of people around the world and Canadians rallied to see how we could help with the burgeoning refugee crisis. Shortly after that, a liberal government came into power with a majority government for the first time in more than a decade. This came with the promise to welcome 25,000 refugees into Canada and Canadians clamored to raise funds to support refugee families. Like many charities in Canada, World Accord felt the impact of the outpouring of support to this very worthy cause. Our donations were understandably way down at a time when our board had approved an investment in fundraising efforts.

With the combination of the additional spending and the decrease in funds for World Accord we had the biggest loss on our books in our 35 year history - but no need to panic. This simply means that we spent more in fiscal 2016 than we had taken in. We had been building our general operating funds for a decade taking in more than we spent most years. This loss simply brought our operating funds down to a much lower but still safely conservative level. It did have us looking hard at how we move forward. We just have to increase our fundraising efforts and cut our costs. There is much to look forward to in the next year with a small but dedicated staff, excellent field partners and now a new federal government that promises to once again support Canada’s role is helping developing nations.

Thank you for your continued support as we seek to serve those with much less though no less deserving.
We have a vision of world accord - the flourishing of well-being for all:

- where basic human needs are met,
- where every person has the opportunity to fulfill their potential,
- where diverse people live peacefully in global community,
- where care of earth and love of neighbour shape our life together.

World Accord’s programming continued our work with local, long-term partners in Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, Nepal and Haiti. They carried out a variety of program activities that involved:

- Sustainable Agriculture and Food Production: We contribute to food security by supporting projects that provide crucial training and support to implement sustainable local food production methods.

- Capacity-building and Skills Training: We support formal and informal skills training in agriculture, trades and literacy training for children and adults, as these skills are a determinant of life quality. Capacity-building encompasses a range of activities to empower individuals and communities.

- Micro-Enterprise and Credit Programs: We support training and micro-credit programs for communities to start small businesses and expand existing ones.

- Community Organizing: Many of our partners work with rural, impoverished communities. In the face of adversity and little individual capacity to overcome challenges, community building and group formation are important components in our partners’ suite of tools.

The table on the preceding page provides an aggregate review of activities and selected results.

As in previous years, this table contains aggregate numbers of participants in World Accord programming and is intended to provide a general point of reference.

However, it contains limitations: it does not explain changes, positive or negative, due to environmental factors. Nor does it take into account the non-linear nature of development work progress. One year may be set back the next year due to a natural disaster, political instability or an economic downturn.

Finally, activities have been grouped together that are comparable but not always the same. Local context, partner capacities and resources play important roles in shaping how program activities are delivered.

THANK YOU!
A special thank you goes to all of our donors and volunteers.
Our work is only possible with your generous support.
Panmati (Kali) BK of Kuwapani community says that although she lost her home in the earthquake, she is thankful that her family survived. She now lives with her two sons, two daughters, her in-laws and her husband in a new home re-built with support from WPD. Panmati says she is happy to have this new house, and happy that her community is working together. She says she first came to Kuwapani through marriage and has always found that the people here work well together. In the future, she says, she plans to raise goats to sell in her community.
